How to apply

Applications for the MSc HRM (International) course can be made online by selecting the 'Apply for this course' option on the web page. Once you have been offered a place on the programme you will be sent a task to complete so that the programme leader can decide who should be awarded the Scholarship in International HRM.

The task (max 1000 words) will ask you to say why you believe you have the potential for:

- becoming an outstanding professional. Support your argument with examples of your accomplishments, including responsibilities, achievements and voluntary activities. If you do not yet have employment experience, these may relate to school and university. If you already have employment experience, you should also – or instead – give evidence of accomplishments in your career to date.

- representing UWE Bristol effectively in your home country on your return. You must show that you understand how you can represent the university effectively and imaginatively on return to your home country. We also look for evidence of leadership, influencing and networking skills, and interest and experience in playing public-facing roles.
- contributing to the quality of other students' experience on your programme. An important part of being a UWE Bristol scholar is enhancing other students' experience on your course, so you should show evidence of active commitment to others' well-being and development in your life and/or career so far.

Like all applicants, you should also give the reasons for your interest in a career in HRM, and describe the personal attributes which you think equip you for this. If possible, say which aspects of HRM are of particular interest to you and how you think our course can support those interests.

In assessing your application, we will pay attention to the quality both of the content and the presentation of your argument.

The submission deadline is 31 March 2018.

Please contact the MSc Human Resource Management (HRM) (International) programme leader if you have any queries.
